The colored regulars in the Philippines are as quick at repartee as they are prompt to obey orders. A black sergeant was hailed by a breezy western volunteer recently with: "Well, nig, what are you going to do here?" The negro replied: "We're going to take up the white man's burden, I suppose,"—Argonaut.

WALTHAM WATCHES

Sir Joshua Reynolds when asked by an ambitious young painter with what he mixed his colors, replied, "With brains, sir." So in watch making; it is not alone the value of the jewels that makes a first class watch---it is the brains that have planned its construction. Mechanical skill and knowledge have made Waltham Watches the best in the world.

Talmage and the Compositor.

"Many years ago, when my sermons first attracted the attention of city editors," said Dr. Talmage in a recent conversation, "you reporters used to make me fame and fret, but since I have come to know you better I have transferred my wrath to your adversary, the compositor. My eyes were opened when, after annoying blunders in print. I determined to report my own sermons for a curtain New York morning paper. It chanced that the first time I reported my self I was preaching a sermon on the Penitential Psalms, in which sermon I said, with emphysics.

"You will notice that in these verset the xame of God does not appear once. Is not thus significant?"

"Caim and confident that this time the sense of my sermon would not be distorted by careless reporting. I packed up the paper of Mycday morning and read.

"You will notice that in these verses the name of God does not appear once. Is not thus significant?"—Philadelphia Saturday Post. SENATORIAL COURTESY.

The Gentleman from the South Gave Way and the Senate Was Adjourned.

Senator Pettus, of Alabama, is the most owl-like member of the senate. He is so ponderously solemn that he is unconsciously humorous.

Mr. Pettus will be 80 years old next July. He belongs to the old school of southern statesmen now fast discappearing. It is easy to see, in the dogmatic manner in which he lays down the law to his senatorial colleagues, that he has been a judge. He speaks with great deliberation, at the rate of about six words a minute, and each word is emphasized by the waving of his chin whiskers. His gestures are confined to a wide sweep of his arm from his body and an inverse motion. Everything he does or says is serious. Even when he wants the senate to adjourn, he goes about it in a way that is the very quintessence of solemn dignity. For instance, the other afternoon, when Mr. Spooner was talking on the Quay case, Mr. Pettine Pettine 1999. oner was talking on the Quay case, Mr.

Pettus arose.
I should like to ask the senator to give way for a motion, if he pleases," remarked Mr. Pettus, uttering each word as if the fate of the nation depended upon the an swer.

"I will agree to anything the senator wants me to," replied Mr. Spooner, smiling ly, "except to vote against my convictions on a constitutional question," I am not asking you to do that," said Mr. Pettus, still mysterious, "but I want you to give way to a motion."

"Well, what is it?" asked Mr. Spooner, "It is to adjourn," answered Mr. Pettus, in his melancholy voice and without a smile. Every member of the senate laughed, and the motion to adjourn was carried.—Wash-ington Post.
